Dep. Minister Agriculture Addresses Board of Trade

The November luncheon of the Wetaskiwin Board of Trade was held at the Driford Hotel on Monday evening, with a good attendance. H. A. Craig, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, was the speaker for the occasion and he gave a very interesting and enlightening address.

A letter from the Public Works Department stated that the bridge over the Bigstone Creek was receiving the attention of the Department, and doubtless a new bridge will be built next year. The secretary of the Glider Club wrote that they wished to hold a meeting here in the near future in the interests of aviation, and the secretary, Mr. Baker, has the matter in hand.

The resignation of W. Prest, president of the Board, was accepted with regret, and in speaking of the motion of acceptance, several members referred to the active interest Mr. Prest had taken in Board of Trade matters.

The matter of holding a seed fair was then dealt with, and it was decided to hold a fair at a suitable date prior to Christmas. A special class is asked for members of the Junior Field Crop competition for the seed fair. The Province will pay nothing towards prizes for this competition. If this Junior competition materializes, an instructor will be sent from the University to instruct those entered in how to judge. The best members of the class will be given further instructions at the University of Alberta, and an opportunity to compete at Provincial Seed Fair and the best of the Provincial Seed Fair will be selected as a team to prepare for the World's Fair at Regina in 1932.

The committee representing the Municipal District of Columbia, Municipal District of Bigstone, Municipal District of Montgomery, Mameo Beach, City of Wetaskiwin, and the Wetaskiwin Board of Trade, which interviewed the Minister of Public Works on October 18th, respecting the making of the Pigeon Lake road a Class A, submitted the following statement made by the Minister of Public Works:

"It is not the intention of the Provincial Government to take over the construction and graveling of the Pigeon Lake road. I am quite unable to recommend this, as the main requirement to constitute this Provincial highway is in my opinion not fulfilled, viz., that the main traffic on this road is not an outside traffic, but a local traffic.

"What I am prepared to recommend is that when the road is constructed and gravelled and the local authorities have paid or agreed to pay their share of the cost, the Provincial Government will take over the entire cost of maintenance.

"With regard to the cost of construction, I should say that a portion of the Dominion Government grant for relief of the unemployed would be available for this work, this would mean that the cost would be split three ways, the local authority would

Skating Rink Will Be Handled by the Sports Association in Winter

Arrangements have been completed with the Recreation Club, which has conducted the skating rink for the past several years, whereby the Wetaskiwin Sports Association will hereafter control and operate the rink, and present liabilities are assumed by the Association. Extensive building operations will be undertaken at once to renovate the structure and provide much better accommodation and comfort for skaters and spectators. Provision will be made for both hockey and skating and a schedule will be drafted which will equitably meet requirements.

But for this enterprising move on the part of the Association, it is doubtful whether the rink would have been operated this year, and the organization is to be commended on its efforts to provide facilities for outdoor sport in the winter months.

The Wetaskiwin Hockey Association has been formed, with Chas. McMurdo as president, and influential citizens comprising the executive. Arrangements will be made with the Sports Association for use of the rink for hockey purposes. An effort is being made to secure a berth in the Big Four league, and prospects appear bright. However, if the application is not entertained, either a three or four club loop including Camrose, Leduc and Ponoka will be formed, or the locals will endeavor to catch a place on the Edmonton Intermediate league. Provision will be made for strenuous competition, and every effort will be made to furnish a brand of Canada's national game that will appeal to the citizens and thereby assure a highly successful season.

Weddings

STADY-HALLGREN

A quiet wedding was celebrated at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, manse on October 30th, when Violet Alfrida Hallgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hallgren, of Winfield, Alberta, became the bride of Benjamin Austin Stady, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stady, also of Winfield. Rev. C. J. McKay officiated.

IDDINGS-GYORI

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's Presbyterian manse on Wednesday, October 29th, when Miss Emma Gyori, daughter of Mrs. Louis Gyori, became the bride of Mr. Homer Iddings, son of Mr. Thomas Andrew Iddings, of the happy young couple come from Rimby, and after the ceremony which was performed by Rev. C. J. Mackay, they left for Edmonton.

pay 30%, the Provincial Government 30%, and the Dominion Government 40%. I would impress on you at this point that it is very necessary that the matter be given immediate attention if this course is to be adopted.

"With regard to the payment by the local authority, this may be spread over a period of five years."

In discussing the report, it was pointed out that all the organizations interested with the exception of the Municipal District of Bigstone, were prepared to proceed with graveling the Pigeon Lake road, but this Municipality took the stand that this question should be considered at a meeting of ratepayers and a vote taken. The opportunity is therefore Richard Ballhorn, Past President, took the opportunity to thank the executive for nominating him for the Master Farmer degree which was conferred on him last week at the University.

Mr. Craig, deputy minister, in his preliminary remarks, referred to the harmony which exists between the City of Wetaskiwin and the surrounding country, and emphasized the important work being done in this community in the promotion of agriculture, and believed that the Wetaskiwin Board of Trade was not surpassed by any other in the province of Alberta, in this important work. The Wetaskiwin Board of Trade was very progressive, as was evidenced by the recent award of degree of Master Farmer to Richard Ballhorn. He stressed the value of prize winning at the big shows and the good advertising a district was receiving through such wins. This has been illustrated by Nelsa Lindon's successes at Chicago and Toronto. Referring to the grain situation, the deputy minister expressed the opinion that we may look for lower prices of grain than have been in effect for many years. Among the reasons for this is that the acreage in many other grain countries has increased wheat production very greatly. The acreage in Russia last year was increased by ten million acres. It is not necessary that this country should be turned into large grain farms and mechanized, but that it should be worked judiciously. One danger of going into any particular line when prices in that line are high, is that there will likely be an overproduction and prices will go very low.

Mr. Craig had a very interesting chart, which showed the result of a soil survey taken all over the province, part of which was first made by the British government in 1880. The reports were lost for some time, but one has recently been found. These illustrated results showed the different classes of soil, and the climatic conditions of many parts of the west.

The presentation of prizes to the winners of the Standing Crops Competition last summer, was then made to the following:

Wheat—1, Albert Winters; 2, W. Turkington; 3, John Renes; 4, Geo. Westendorp; 5, Andrew Jevns.

Oats—1, O. Pelland; 2, Nelsa Lindon; 3, Edgar Thirsk; 4, A. Ewart; 5, B. S. Wallace.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Leo contributed enjoyable musical selections.

The Girl Guides held their Halloween party on October 30th at 7:30 p.m. The judging of the costumes was the first item of the program, first prize going to Miss Elmore Finch. Next came the games and dancing, and then the "Chamber of Horrors," a most exciting phase. Supper was served, during which the lights went out and a ghost entered through the door carrying a huge birthday cake. Among those present were Miss Timperley, Mrs. Macgregor, Mrs. H. M. Robinson, Rev. Wade and the Rangers. After the singing of "Taps" the party dispersed.

Master Farmer Movement to Canada this year and conducted it, in the three Prairie Provinces. So that this year, 1930, marks the first time in the history of Canadian agriculture that farmers have been named Masters of their profession.

The Master Farmer Movement is neither a contest nor a competition. It is a means for awarding outstanding achievement in farming, home building and citizenship. To become a candidate for the award a farmer must be nominated by his neighbors. He cannot nominate himself. The great majority of the 174 candidates in the three provinces this year were nominated by local agricultural societies. (Continued on Page 4)

Wetaskiwin Citizen Is Named Treasurer of Dominion Sport Body

Edmonton, Nov. 4.—Alberta was awarded the track and field championships of the Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada at the annual meeting of the association which got underway here Monday.

The report of the president, Miss Alexandrine Gibb, who was unable to attend, was read and accepted with the exception of three clauses dealing with women's softball. Miss Gibb had recommended that softball organizations in the Dominion be not granted representation on the governing board of the W.A.A.F.C. because she believed that there were not sufficient leagues operating.

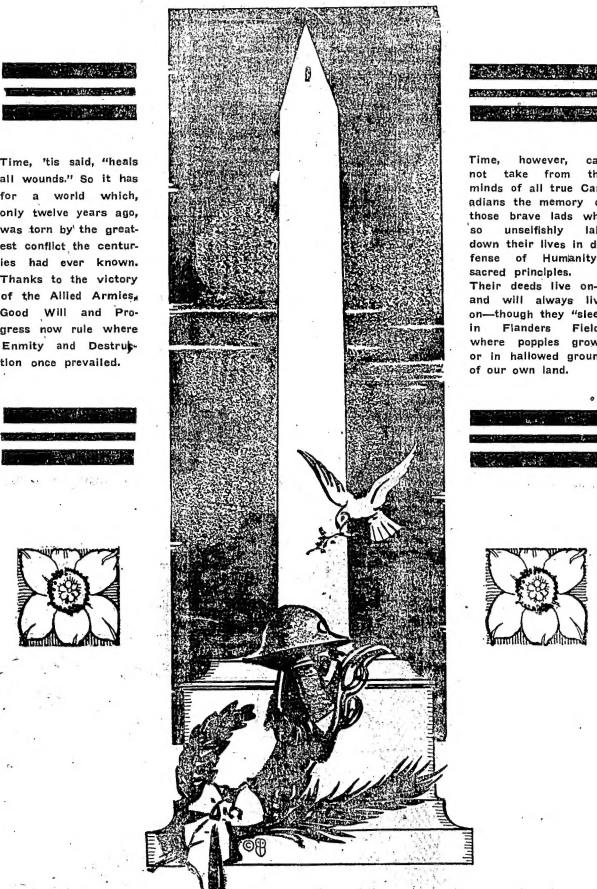

Lengthy discussion took place over the rules to govern basketball. The Dominion Basketball Association was represented by Miss Daisy Johnson who made a strong plea for men's rules in women's basketball. Several delegates favored women's rules, however, and it was finally decided that any provision of a branch of the W.A.A.F.C. who desired might play under women's rules.

The slate of officers for the year 1931 is as follows: President, Miss Mabel Ray, Toronto; first vice-president, Miss V. Sallis, Vancouver; second vice-president, Mrs. I. A. Coleman, Edmonton; treasurer, Mrs. B. W. Bellamy, Wetaskiwin; secretary, Miss Ruth Ferguson, Toronto.

Provincial representatives on the executive are as follows: Quebec Miss Pack; British Columbia, Miss V. Sallis; Ontario, Mrs. P. Cheriton; Maritimes, Miss E. Sterling, Alberta, Mrs. I. A. Coleman.

HERE ARE REASONS FOR CHICAGO CRIMINALS

For each robbery committed in London, New York commits 36 and Chicago 100. In one year in Chicago there were twelve times as many robberies as in all England and Wales. In 1923 Chicago statistics showed twelve times the number of robberies as the whole of Canada, and the number has increased very steadily ever since then. Its homicide rate was twice that of Italy, four times that of Australia, and nine times that of England and Wales. Such statistics, quoted by Lawrence Howe, for 21 years a Chicago detective sergeant, writing in The Nation, are familiar enough and deplorable enough. Nor will anybody say that they have not been sufficiently deplored. Mr. Howe, we believe, gives the best explanation of them, from the point of view of a police officer, that we have come across. One of the chief reasons for Chicago lawlessness is the fact that it is the greatest railroad centre in the country. There is a train leaving Chicago on an average of one every minute throughout the twenty-four hours, and the escaping criminal has therefore unrivalled opportunities for getting away very quickly from the scene of his operations.

There is also the fact that there are more penitentiaries close to Chicago than to any other city in the United States. That is to say, Chicago is the nearest point of call for discharging convicts. Once liberated the convict has small resources. Sometimes he is given $10 and sometimes $25, and sometimes $75, the idea being to give him a start in the hard fight of life before he if he wishes to rehabilitate himself. Now, a convict who wishes to be lost sight does not go to some small town where his appearance will be remarked. He tries to lose himself in a large city and perhaps there are three or four times as many convicts who go to Chicago for this purpose than go to New York. Chicago has, therefore, always a larger criminal population, or a population of criminals who have been convicted than any other large city in the world. These discharged convicts try to earn an honest living. Most of them probably drift into one or other of the gangs that infest the city. The gangs, therefore, are always being replenished by desperate characters, and this more than compensates for the attrition of gang warfare.

Another important fact is that Chicago for many years, has been the favorite resort of the foreign criminals. It might be supposed that most of them would be found in the seaport cities. But the foreign criminals who reach New York do not feel safe. They feel too close to home. They know that if a search is to be made for them it will probably be made at the point where they were known to have landed. Therefore they make tracks to an interior city which offers the better chances of safety and at the same time a suitable field for their operations. Chicago naturally appeals to them. Another important reason for the criminal whether native or foreign, in choosing Chicago is that he knows he can buy protection there. He knows there are grafting politicians, politicians and court officials. Says Mr. Howe: "The towns which offer no protection through graft, bribery or political influence are naturally avoided by the underworld. Owing to political pull to corrupt politicians, to the selection of officials and executives irrespective of the characters of the men chosen, no large town can justly claim to be free from some forms of graft and venality, but nowhere is graft more flagrantly recognized and reckoned upon than in Chicago."

But Chicago could be rid of its crooks if the task were given to the police and there were no corrupt influence brought to bear. Mr. Howe once told a candidate for mayor, that if he were given 25 picked detectives, trustworthy men who knew the underworld, he would undertake to rid Chicago of all professional crooks in 90 days—provided that after an arrest had been made and conclusive evidence presented there would be no fixing of the case. The candidate admitted the futility of attempting such a drastic reform. Much of the fixing takes place in the court room. The crooks are caught, frequently brought over to have the case brought on for trial before witnesses can be reached. A common trick is for the clerk of the court to make an error for the date set for a hearing. If the date is set on Thursday the case is called on Tuesday, and the witnesses for the prosecution not being ready, the case is postponed. On Thursday when the witnesses turn up they will be told that through an error the case has already been disposed of.

Certain judges, friendly to the prisoners or the influence behind the prisoners, see out certain cases, timorously, allow witnesses to be badgered and terrorized and sometimes even go so far as to instruct juries improperly. At other times, they consent to postponement after postponement, until the witnesses or the prosecution, weary of being dragged through the case, give up. The expense of losing a week's pay, and fail to appear. Or they lose interest and can be bought off by agents for the accused persons. Finally a major cause of Chicago's ill reputation is its ill-advised policy of changing police chiefs frequently. The average length of service of a Chicago police chief is less than two years. In the past 75 years Chicago has been served by no fewer than 43 chiefs of police. In London there have been only 6 in 100 years. In Canada the chief of police holds his office for life or until he desires to retire on a pension. To force a chief of police to resign is almost unheard of here. Politicians have no power over police chiefs and since a good deal more care is employed in appointing them, it is not often that the incompetence of the official leads to a public demand that he shall relinquish his post.

pay a man to grow that once prized brand of grain. It doesn't pay a man to reap, he threshes at a loss; and so the growers sit and weep, beneath their heavy cross. And when the farmers have no coin, all commerce feels disease; the butcher sells no tenderloin, the grocer sells no cheese, the merchant a stark ruin come, and all men wail and creak; the plumber cannot sell a plum, the auctioneer goes broke. We're anxious to be neat and trim, we diet-crazy guys; and so our figures may be slim, we cut out bread and pies. The honest grub our fathers ate to us appears a crime, we're anxious to be underweight in this fast-tiddden time. But I've decided to return to good old-fashioned ways, so that the lamp of hope may burn for honest rustic joys. What boots it if I do grow fat, or if my waist expands? I'll help the farmer come out to bat with profits from his lands. It is my duty to assist the husbandman, I wot; I also ween and likewise wish this scheme will hit the spot. The price of wheat will surely rise, so soaring overhead, when I get back to eating pies and many kinds of bread. There will be joy in rural groves and gladness everywhere, when I consume the fourteen loaves that form my bill of fare.

(By Horace L. Seymour, Provincial Director of Town Planning)

Being a series of short articles explanatory of the provisions of the Alberta Town Planning Act and Regulations thereunder.

Article 10—Town Planning Commissions.

Some of the duties of the Provincial Town and Rural Planning Advisory Board are:

To cooperate with any local or rural authority in formulating and carrying into effect any official town plan or any planning scheme; and to promote in any community a pride in the amenities of its neighborhood."

The Board feels that it can best assist by encouraging the appointment of Town Planning Commissions in cities and towns and in some instances also in villages. Where several authorities are concerned a "Regional Planning Commission" may be appointed.

Experience shows that town planning activities can best be carried on where there is a Town Planning Commission with which the Provincial Board and Provincial Director are both able and glad to co-operate.

A year ago in the United States there were over 750 communities interested in planning; over 600 had official planning commissions. In Canada there are already a considerable number of commissions in the various Provinces with a dozen or more in Ontario, several in Saskatchewan, and in Vancouver and other municipalities of British Columbia. In Alberta there are now 14 commissions. Other municipalities have named commissions, but they have not yet been officially appointed.

Further information may be obtained by writing to the Director of Town Planning, Parliament Buildings, Edmonton.

CHINA MAY PROVE AN OUTLET FOR WHEAT

To be in a city when it was besieged by three different Red armies and to be going back to that same city, after more than average nerve, but that is exactly what G. S. Moss, formerly acting British consul general in the city of Canton, China, who travelled through Winnipeg last week, over the lines of the C.N.R., is doing.

"The continuous fighting between the different factions in China has kept the rice crop very meagre," Mr. Moss pointed out. He said this makes a market for Canadian wheat, a large quantity of which is on order for export to China during the coming winter. Mr. Moss looked for an early termination of the hostilities that are turning the economic market of China "inside out," and stated that Canada, to hold her market in the Orient, had to compete with Japan, whose control of the Manchurian railroad gave her an opening to lay Japanese produce in China at a very low figure.

DON'T BE FOOLED

When a butcher or retail meat shop offers you "Choice" or "Good" beef, don't be fooled into thinking it is government graded. Only the very best of Canadian prime beef carefully selected as to quality is government graded, and to protect the customer the grades are branded in red and blue, the brand showing on every important retail cut. Ask for government graded beef "Choice" for the very best and "Good" for beef of really fine eating quality, and watch for the brand mark in red or blue on beef your dealer delivers to you—Dominion Department of Agriculture.

MILK

Milk is the most important food for young children. The child may take his milk as a drink, or on bread, cereal or fruit. Milk is also used in making soups, custards and puddings. Milk is a liquid, but it should not be thought of as a beverage, as something to drink in place of water. Liquids are necessary and desirable, and most of our foods contain a large percentage of water. Milk is a food containing about twelve per cent. of solids. These solids are the very best food substances.

If you evaporate a quart of milk, you secure about half a cupful of butter fat, milk sugar and small amounts of certain minerals which go to make muscles, bones and teeth.

We cannot see these substances in

Don't Worry About Vitamins

Of course, you need vitamins—and you can get them all in this breakfast:

milk because they are dissolved, but when we use milk, we take them into our bodies and so receive all the nourishment that the milk contains.

In addition to these food substances which build up the body and repair and restore worn-out tissues, milk contains vitamins which are so important in promoting growth and development in children and in keeping children and adults well.

There is no other food which can serve as well as the basis of a diet for a child. It is most desirable that every child should receive the benefits which are derived from the use of a sufficient amount of milk each day in his diet.

There have been many experiments carried out in which the effects of milk upon children have been carefully observed, and these observations have shown that children do benefit by the use of milk.

Milk is rich in calcium (lime) and phosphorus, and these elements, which are necessary for the development of the body of sufficient calcium, the lack of which causes damage to the bones of the body and to the teeth.

A great advantage of milk is the ease with which it can be combined with other foods. The need of a properly balanced diet is frequently mentioned. The name "protective foods" has been given to milk and the leafy vegetables because of their ability to make good the deficiencies of other foods. If we use the green leafy vegetables, we are protected from the ill results of an unbalanced or deficient diet.

Milk is the one food for which we have no satisfactory substitute. Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St. Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

ECZEMA ON HANDS
Would Itch and Burn
Work was a Burden

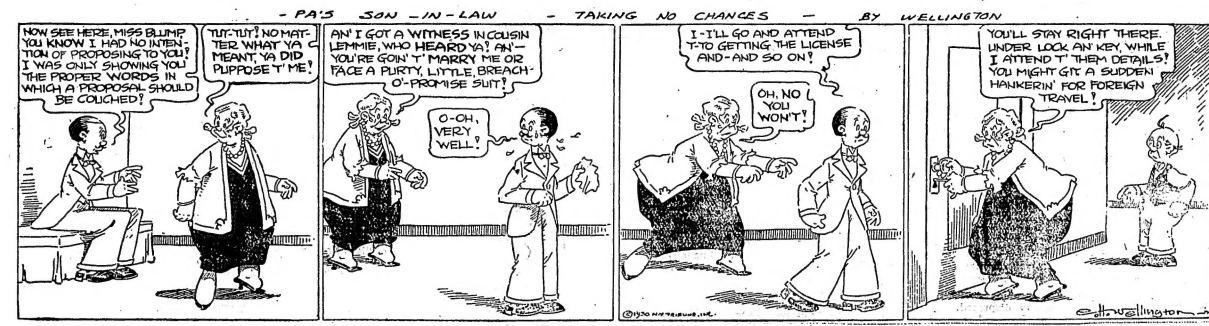

There is no remedy like B. B. B. for giving relief to all sufferers, no remedy that can do more for those who are driven to distraction with the terrible tortures of eczema.

Mrs. J. A. Currie, R. R. No. 3, Dresden, Ont., writes: "For a number of years, I was troubled with a form of eczema on my hands. They would itch and burn so at night I could not rest, and my work was a burden to me. I tried different ointments, but of no avail. At last I was advised to use Burdock Blood Bitters, and after taking three bottles my hands were healed and I have had no return of the eczema since."

BARLEY RAISED BY KING SOLOMON IN NOVA SCOTIA

Halifax, N.S., Oct. 28.—Three-thousand-year-old barley, grown by King Solomon who ruled in the 10th century, B.C., is being imported into Nova Scotia—but not in large quantities.

A sample of barley discovered in a grain-pit in Tella-fara, Palestine, has been presented to the Nova Scotia Government Agricultural College through the courtesy of the Royal Ontario Museum. While many of the kernels are broken and all are darkened to a smoky brown, the seed, in shape, size and shape corresponds closely with our best modern barley.

Legends that old seeds such as these will grow are without foundation. Officials of the Department of Agriculture state that certain seeds, such as mustard and radish, apparently have the power to survive many years when buried deeply in the soil, careful experiments have shown that the viability of seeds of cereals falls rapidly after the third year. It would seem, therefore, that the seeds are Nova Scotia agricultural riches as the seeds are 2997 years too old to be of any commercial value in this Province.

OKLAHOMA CITY STILL IN PERIL FROM OIL FLOOD

Oklahoma City, Nov. 1.—The battle of man against a natural resource that yields him riches was still on in the Oklahoma City oil field today with safety of a southwestern metropolis at stake.

Rousing its defiance throughout the night with a voice of 7,000 locomotives, the wild Morgan Company gusher at the city's doorstep continued its unrestrained flow. Preparations were made for a long siege believed necessary before the huge gusher could be brought under control, and its valuable product marketed.

An eighth of Oklahoma City's entire area was declared a fire hazard. More than 500 men, including 200 national guard, patrol the district to enforce stringent fire precaution measures.

Everything was in readiness to day to cap the gusher which razed its ponderous connections early Friday and sprayed the city and surrounding oil field with crude petroleum. Highly inflammable gas. Military, state and oil men, field officials, however, believed they faced a prolonged struggle, and prepared to lay siege to the well.

"My razor's awfully dull, dear. I can scarcely shave with it."

"Why, Charles, you don't mean to tell me that your beard is tougher than the linoleum!"

W. M. M. TOUCHE, L.L.C.M.

A few days ago, Wm. M. M. Touche, L.L.C.M., of Lacombe, graduate of Chicago Musical College, was engaged as choir leader of the First United Church, Wetaskiwin. During the past eleven years, he has been 100 per cent successful with pupils in Toronto Conservatory exams. Miss Myrtle Cochran, who commenced her studies with him, won Open Violin last year at Edmonton, and Senior Viola two years previously at Calgary. Miss Marie Popen, another pupil, won the Open Violin this year, at Peace River town, and also won the Lieutenant-Governor's gold medal for "The most artistic performance of the entire Festival." Miss Florence Hall won first place in vocal solos this year at Edmonton against eight competitors and tied in second place at Calgary against fourteen competitors. Those wishing lessons from Mr. Touche may leave their phone number and name at the Dillard Hotel for the present.

On Sunday next, Mr. Touche is bringing up one of his pupils, Rhonnie Williams, to play a solo at the evening service. Rhonnie, who has been getting first class honors in all his exams so far, and last June passed his Junior with a mark of 81%.

eties or other local organizations, very few nominations coming from individuals. Following the nomination, a candidate was requested to answer as completely as possible a Master Farmer Questionnaire of 294 questions. Dr. W. H. Fairfield, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, and the Editor of the Nor-West Farmer, made the final decisions as to the awards, but only after careful consideration of the information previously gathered and the personal visit to the candidate's farm.

Richard Ballhorn, familiarly known to his friends as "Dick," operates 800 acres of land, of which 625 are under the plow. Mr. Ballhorn is of German extraction and was born on his father's farm in the State of Iowa. He started to farm for himself in 1910 on his present farm, which he secured by purchase. His soil is a sandy loam and some of it has been under cultivation for 35 years. He grows Garnet wheat, Victory oats and O.A.C. barley and has had considerable success growing sweet clover and timothy. Horses and tractors are used for his farm work and a small line of implements and a motor truck are used for other odd jobs and a motor truck for marketing live stock and grain. Quack grass is his worst weed but he also has to contend with stink weed and now thistle. All barnyard manure is hauled on the land in winter.

It would seem that the yard and barns in summer. He has had success in growing alfalfa, western rye and broom grass providing there is sufficient moisture. His main cash crop is hogs and the bulk of his oats and barley which he threshes with his own threshing outfit, is marketed in this way. He has a good line of implements and does not look upon any one as being an outstanding investment. All implements are in good repair and his repair work is done in spare times. Mr. Ballhorn raises both purebred and grade Shortorns and has always used a purebred Short-horn bull. His herd of live stock totals about 30 head of cattle and he has 13 brood sows and 100 or more other hogs, depending upon the season of the year. The sows raise two litters per year averaging eight pigs each, which are sold at six months of age weighing 200 lbs. Rape and rye are used for hog pastures and self feeders are used for growing and finishing hogs. A mineral mixture is also used regularly. Mr. Ballhorn also feeds lambs which he buys from the stock yards, and whenever he feels that he is getting a good flock of poultry is small, only enough to farm use. He has had fair success raising turkeys. The farm garden supplies all necessary vegetables, but so far he has not gone in for growing small fruits. The surroundings are well kept and the buildings are painted every five years. He has a good shelter belt which has been growing 18 years, a good lawn, excellent flower garden and ornamental shrubs. The farm is generally free from weeds and everything is in good repair. Ballhorn is one of the substantial farmers of his community and is Reeve of his municipality. In 1929 he was President of the Wetaskiwin Board of Trade. He has a modern, comfortable home with a com-

GRAIN CONCERN SUFFERS LOSS OF $2,874,688

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—Drastic losses amounting to $2,874,688, including $1,755,636 lost on unauthorized purchase of stocks on margin, and unauthorized transactions for the year ending June 30, 1930, were announced in the fourth annual report of the directors of the Alberta Pacific Grain Company, Limited, issued here Friday.

The losses included, as well as the unauthorized transactions, $669,000 on the operations of a subsidiary company, $210,000 on bond interest not met by operations, and $210,000 on dividend on preferred stock. The loss sustained entirely wiped out the balance of $1,555,933.20, brought forward from the previous year's operations.

Decreased grain handlings, caused by the small crop of 1929, were held responsible for the operating loss, stated in the report, while it was emphasized that "it has been necessary to provide for further serious losses—the unauthorized transactions—though transactions having no part in the regular business of the company."

ALLEGED SLAYER OF FIVE COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Spooky Lake, Alta., Oct. 31.—George Dverchuk was committed for trial by Magistrate T. O. B. Gore Hickman, following a preliminary hearing the packed community hall on Thursday afternoon. A. H. Gibson, K.C., acted for the crown, and the man charged with the five murders which shocked this district one week ago, was represented by Hugh John Macdonald of Edmonton.

The evidence given was along the same lines as that adduced at the inquest, but given in more detail. A crowd of 2,000 people filled the town during the afternoon and many threats of open violence to Dverchuk were made, but no concerted action was taken.

NEW COURTHOUSE ALMOST FINISHED

Red Deer, Oct. 30.—The structure work on the new courthouse being built here by the department of public works, costing in the neighborhood of $80,000, is almost completed, and the workmen are preparing to get busy with the interior and put in the finishing touches.

All the ornamental stonework has been done, the red tile shingles laid, and all outside work cleaned up.

TO RECOGNIZE GOVT. GRADES FOR POULTRY

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—Growing out of a series of conferences held between representatives of the leading whole-sale buyers of poultry and officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Hon. Robert Weir announced Thursday that an agreement had been reached on the part of buyers to recognize government grades as the standard for trading and the establishment of substantial price differentials between classes and grades.

"The agreement marks one of the most important developments in the poultry industry in many years," says the statement. "Just what this announcement means is indicated by the fact that, by the simple process of grade feeding and properly finishing poultry for market, from 50 to 75 cents in market value may be added to the individual bird. With some 15,000,000 birds to be marketed during the next two or three months this means increased cash returns to farmers of from $5,000,000 to $7,500,000."

SEND BLOOMS OUT FOR "POPPY DAY"

More than 40,000 small and 20,000 large poppies, commemorative of the blood "which blew on Flanders' Fields" have been sent out from the Alberta Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion to various towns and cities in Alberta, in preparation for "Poppy Day," which is to be observed in Calgary on Saturday, November 8. It was stated at the Canadian Legion office on Thursday.

During the next week, more than 70,000 small and 40,000 large poppies and approximately 500 wreaths will be distributed among 400 towns and cities in Alberta, through the provincial command of the Canadian Legion, it was announced.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans in the Belcher hospital, and the similar institution in Edmonton; the material coming from the Veterans' shop in Toronto—Calgary Herald.

JAIL TERMS FOR SHOOTING MOOSE NEAR BUCK LAKE

Wanton slaughter of two cow moose and a bull in the Wenham Valley country near Buck Lake, brought swift retribution to Dennis Burnett, homesteader, who commuted between his bush homestead, and his rooms over the University Grocery until Constable R. H. Baynes, Alberta Provincial police, got on his trail.

Burnett was haled before Magistrate Baynes—no relation to the officer—and was given 30 days in jail on each of three charges of shooting moose out of season, the terms to run consecutively, so that Burnett will have three months to serve in all. The hunter is said to have engaged in market hunting and selling the meat.

TWO SHOT DEAD, ANOTHER HURT, AT SEDGEWICK

Sedgewick, Nov. 4.—Before her terrified mother, Miss Helen Miller, 25-year-old Sedgewick girl, was slain Saturday night by her enraged suitor, Joseph Ward, 28, who a minute before had shot to death her father, Andrew Hiller, because he had refused to countenance the marriage of the couple. Young Ronald Hiller, a brother, was wounded, but not seriously.

Seeking aid for her daughter and husband, Mrs. Hiller escaped from the "death-room," but when she returned with help, a number of neighbors responding to her calls, she found both dead, and nearby, close to his fiancée, was the body of Ward. He had taken quick action, poisoning which he had prepared before coming to the Hiller home.

All the principals in the tragedy are well known in the Sedgewick district: Ward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Ward, are residents of the town.

Young Ward returned to the district Saturday morning, after a fortnight's absence. He had left home a nearby table, poured the poison out, after Hiller had refused to sanction and swallowed the fatal dose.

a marriage between the young man and his daughter.

Early Saturday evening, Ward sneaked into the Hiller home, and, without warning, shouted "Stick 'em up." Immediately he fired at Andrew Hiller, killing him instantly, and then shot at Ronald.

Panic reigned in the home, and as Helen cried out for aid, Ward shouted "It's all right." But a second later, he fired a third shot, from a small rifle, and the girl fell dead at his feet. He then calmly walked to a nearby table, poured the poison out, after Hiller had refused to sanction and swallowed the fatal dose.

ANOTHER CAMROSE PLAYER IN HOCKEY PRO RANKS

Camrose, Nov. 1.—Turning down an opportunity to join the Hollywood Millionaires of Los Angeles for the coming season, Ray Sanders, of Camrose, has accepted an offer from the Minneapolis Millers. He left Friday night to join his team at once and go into training before the season actually opens. He will thus come into conflict with two other Camrose boys, August Marker and Emil Hansen, who have already joined the Tulsa Oilers.

WETASKIWIN WIN AT RUGBY OVER EDMONTON TEAM

Last Saturday afternoon, the Wetaskiwin High School rugby team defeated Commercial High School of Edmonton 33-0.

After Maxwell, quarter for Wetaskiwin, recovered a fumble and ran to a touchdown, Wetaskiwin opened up with a passing attack that completely bewildered their opponents. In all eight passes were completed. Two of these were thrown 40 and 35 yards respectively and each was good for a touchdown.

The Edmonton team fought hard and made some brilliant line bucks. On one occasion they carried the ball to Wetaskiwin's 10 yard line, but just failed to make yards on the third down. In the final quarter they tried a forward pass, but Williamson intercepted and ran to a touchdown. A large and enthusiastic crowd witnessed the game.

U.F.A. WILL MEET IN CALGARY JAN. 20-23

The 1931 annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta will be held in Central United Church, Calgary, from January 20 until 23. It was announced on Friday, following a meeting of the executive of the U.F.A.

While in the past it has been the custom to alternate the conventions between Calgary and Edmonton, it was felt by the members of the executive that it would be more convenient and less costly, both for the organization and the majority of delegates who will attend the convention, if it were held in Calgary.

It is expected that the provincial seed fair and the annual meeting of the Alberta Co-operative Credit Societies will be held in the city at the same time as the U.F.A. convention.

Rev. R. H. Lytle, of Strathcona Presbyterian church, Edmonton, is the new moderator of the synod of the Presbyterian church in Alberta. He was named at a session in Calgary Tuesday night, and succeeds Rev. Thomas Tait of First Presbyterian church, Edmonton.

WEEKLY STOCK MARKET REPORT

The following is a weekly report from the Edmonton Stock Yards, prepared by a Times representative, for the week ending Nov. 4th:

Receipts: Cattle, 800; calves, 192; hogs, 1311; sheep, 1057.

Due to very light receipts so far this week, the market is inclined to be somewhat on the dull order. There is a good demand in evidence for practically all classes of cattle and any good quality stuff is selling quite readily at fully steady and unchanged values as compared to last week's close, but there are too many common cattle arriving for the good of the trade.

A few good to choice fed calves on the baby beef order so far this week sold at $5.50 to $7.10. Bulk of the good to choice butcher steers are bringing from $4.50 to $5.00, common to mediums $3.50 to $4.25. Bulk of the good butcher heifers $4.75 to $5.00, choice kinds and especially lightweights making a little more, common to mediums $3.50 to $4.50. Bulk of the good to choice butcher cows are selling at $3.50 to $4.00, common to mediums $2.50 to $3.25, canners and cutters $2.00 to $2.50, bulls $2.50 to $3.00.

The demand for stockers and feeders continues quite good and trading on this class of stock is fairly brisk, with sales so far this week indicating that prices are fully steady to firm with last week's close.

Stockers and feeder steers are bringing $4.25 to $5.00, stocker heifers $4.00 to $4.75 and stocker cows $3.00 to $3.75.

There is no material change noticeable on the calf market; choice lightweights are still selling up to $5.50, bulk of the good kinds going at $5.00 to $5.50, good heifers at $5.00 to $7.00, and common to medium calves at $4.00 to $5.00.

Hog prices are tending lower. So far this week, hogs have sold at $9.50, selects $10.15 and butchers $9.30, fed and watered. Cuts on the offgrade hogs are unchanged and as follows: Heavy $10.00, extra heavies $2.00, No. 1 sows $2.50, all other sows $2.50, rough hogs $4.50.

Trading on the sheep and lamb market is showing a little more life, as buyers' demands are somewhat keener and salesmen during this past week found no difficulty in moving their offerings of good lambs at $6.75 to $7.00, yearlings generally going at $4.50 to $5.00, choice lightweights up to $5.50, ewes at $3.00 to $4.50.

COL. JAMIESON TO CONTEST EDMONTON ELECTION

Edmonton, Oct. 31.—Acclaimed by more than 300 delegates from all parts of the city, Col. F. C. Jamieson, K.C., was nominated as Conservative candidate to contest the provincial by-election in this city. The vacancy was caused by the recent death of Colonel C. Y. Weaver.

CUT INITIAL PAYMENT ON POOL BARLEY

Winnipeg, Oct. 30.—A five-cent-per-bushel reduction in the initial payment on barley was announced late Wednesday by the central selling agency of the Canadian Wheat Pool. Initial payment on the basis of No. 3 C.V. barley at Fort William will thus amount to 20 cents a bushel or about Friday, Oct. 31.

A good deal of interest is being taken by farmers in the district regarding the growing of sugar beet, and the establishment of a factory here. While the Herald is not convinced of the growing of sugar beet, and not in a position to throw light on the subject, no doubt some of our readers have had experience along this line, and it would be interesting to hear from them when so many are interested.—Poncha Herald.

CARE OF FARM MACHINERY

(Experimental Farmers Note)

Larger machines, greater numbers and higher prices have combined to increase very considerably the average farm investment in machinery in recent years. It was estimated in 1929 that the average Manitowish farm had nearly $2,000 worth of implements on which the annual charge for depreciation and repairing alone, amounts to $400. An investment as costly as this, to be profitable, requires that machinery should not only operate efficiently but that the life of usefulness should be as long as possible. This cannot be expected unless good care is given.

It is far too common a practice on prairie farms to leave a machine in the field where it was last used until it is again to be put into action. A high priced seed drill may be seen in a field at harvest time being cut around and left in a smother of grain and weeds. A binder may sit along a fence row to decay throughout its long season of inactivity while other implements of lesser or even greater importance find resting places which are far from suitable to their preservation. The best and most profitable place for such machinery is not even in carefully placed rows in the corner of the farmyard but in a suitable shed which need not cost much to erect.

In fact, care of machinery and good farming go hand in hand, for it is generally observed that the man who takes a pride in keeping his implements in good shape, in maintaining a tidy yard and farm by placing these implements in a shed especially for the winter, is a farmer who is neat and thorough in all his work. He knows that tools in poor shape cannot do good work and that the results of inefficient work are decreased cash returns.

Another factor usually overlooked, but which affects materially the care given machinery, is the cost of maintenance and operation. Machinery accounts are so infrequently kept that farmers have little idea how expensive it is to operate a machine.

So high are the running expenses for many of our recently introduced large machines that, if accounts were kept showing this, there would be a great incentive to take particular care both while the machine is in operation and while it is idle.

Had it not been for the Wheat "Pact," wheat would have sold at 30 cents and Canada might have faced ruin in bankruptcy, affirmed George F. Wright, associate editor of the Montreal Daily Star, speaking at the weekly luncheon of the Advertising Club in the Mount Royal Hotel on October 15th. "The great problem transcending all others in Canada today is the marketing of the western grain," continued Mr. Wright, "and the Pool has provided the only possible means of orderly marketing."

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE
Giles Chittenden swears to avenge
the death of his young half-brother Rodney, driven to suicide by the notorious Julie Farrow who had spurned his love. He will make Julie love him, then throw her aside as she threw Rodney. He meets her in Switzerland, goes with her to the hotel on the St. Bernard Pass, and succeeds in winning her love. To his amazement, he discovers that he has fallen overwhelmingly in love with her himself! And he is married to an American girl with whom he has nothing in common.

Then he discovers that this girl is not the same Julie Farrow who ruined Rodney, but her cousin of the same name. She scorns him when he confesses his love and his inability to marry her. They meet later in London, where she is going the pace that kills. Another man, Lawrence Schofield, wants to marry her, in spite of her wild life.

Through his friend Lombard, Giles Chittenden meets the "other Julie," the notorious woman who had ruined Rodney's life. She tells him that she is going to die; the doctors have given her up as incurable and she is leaving England. She is worried about her cousin, the girl Chittenden loves.
That Julie—his Julie is going in fast company, among them a common little American girl named Sadie Barrow.

And Sadie Barrow is Giles Chittenden's wife. He did not know that she was in England. That night he meets her at a party at his mother's house. They pretend to be strangers.

Giles learns that Sadie Barrow, his wife, has gone in for spiritualism and is attending seances by a medium named Chrver.

He calls on Julie, who is cold to him. He reproaches her for her reckless life. They quarrel, and she leaves with Lawrence Schofield. Her friend, Bin Lennox, tells Giles that Julie really loves him. Lombard calls on him and says he is in need of money.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"My dear fellow, isn't it almost the only thing any one is ever in a fix about? How much do you want?"

Lombard gulped down his whisky.
"It's awfully sporting of you. If I could have five hundred, it's only a temporary loan."

Giles laughed shortly. "Do you take me for a millionaire?"
"I tell you it's only temporary."
"I'll lend you fifty if it's any use."
There was eloquent silence, then Lombard turned.

"Look here, Chittenden, it's serious. I'm frightfully up against it. You've got to let me have it," he said desperately.

"Got to?"
"For a moment the two men looked at one another silently, then Chittenden laughed.

"Sorry, but that's a thing no man can say to me." He made another move to the door, but Lombard caught his arm.

"Chittenden," Chittenden stood still.

"Very well—Lombard shrugged his shoulders with well-assumed indifference and turned to the door. Chittenden let him open it, then he called after him sharply:

"Lombard. Come back." Chittenden caught him by the shoulder and jerked him back into the centre of the room.

"I'll make it a hundred," he said. A sly amused smile crossed Lombard's face, and Giles broke out awfully.

"Damn you; do you think I'm afraid

"Damn you; do you think I'm afraid for myself? If it were only a question of that I'd give you the biggest thrashing you ever had, and kick you out in the street."

"What do you want it for? What have you been up to?"
The other man's eyes fell.
"I can't tell you."

"All right, then you won't get anything."
Lombard looked up suddenly.

"Oh, yes, I shall," he said with a delectable infection.

There was an ugly silence.

"Oh, yes, I shall," he said again as Chittenden did not speak. "And if you refuse I shall tell Schofield and any one else who might be interested, that you and Julie Farrow spent the night together up at St. Bernard."

It was such an unexpected challenge that for a moment Chittenden could find no words. Then with a great effort he pulled himself together.

"And do you think any one will believe you?" he asked.

Lombard laughed.

"They'll be glad enough to believe me. Scandal is the salt of life to Julie's friends. She's not altogether popular as it is, and if I tell them it's no use getting violent," he added hurriedly as he saw Chittenden's hands clench into fists. "I'm in a position to prove what I say, remember."

"Prove it, then, and be damned!"

CONSTIPATION

Caused Pains Across Her Stomach

Mrs. K. Lissy, Hannon, Ont., writes: "I suffered terribly, for years, from constipation and my bowels would not move for two or three days at a time. It was very hard for me to do my work as I would get such terrible pains across my stomach. After trying different medicines I decided to take Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and I got wonderful relief in a very short time."

the man she loved had been a physical one.

Lawrence Schofield's kindly devotion was like a cool hand laid on her feverishness, and when once again he asked if she could not make up her mind to marry him, she suddenly gave in—

"Very well—if you are willing to take the risk."

"I am quite willing."

He wanted to go straight away and buy her the finest diamond ring in London, but Julie would not allow it.

"Not yet. You must give me a little time to get used to it. I don't want people to know just yet."

He was disappointed, but he fell in with her wishes.

Just as you like. Everything shall always be just as you like."

Sudden tears filled her eyes.

"That's foolish of you," she told him. "But it's dear of you, too. I'm not half good enough for you, Lawrence."

It was a bright, sunny afternoon, so he would not let her go back to the flat when they had reached.

"I'm going to take you for a drive in the country. London is racketing your nerves to pieces."

They stopped at a little country inn for tea. In one of the rooms somebody was playing a gramophone, and there was the sound of laughter and dancing feet.

"They sound happy, don't they?" Julie said with an effort.

"I hope they are as happy as we are," Schofield answered impulsively. "My greatest happiness will be in giving you everything you want."

Julie laughed brokenly.

It was on her lips to say that if she had been rich she would not have consented to marry him. It was more than she could bear; she started restlessly to her feet.

"Shall we go? It's getting dark, and the country is so dreary when it gets dark."

They drove back to London and dined together.

"What shall we do now?" Schofield asked.

"I don't mind what we do," Julie said. "Go to a theatre, if you like. I can go home and change."

But he would not allow that; he said he could not bear to let her out of his sight on this day of all days.

In the end they went to a cinema. Julie did not care for the pictures, but at any rate it did away with the need to talk, and the darkness was restful. She only looked at the screen when Schofield drew her attention to something being shown upon it.

It was as if Fate were relentlessly pursuing her, determined to torment her and keep her pain alive, for the second picture was of the Monastery at St. Bernard and of the snow-clad mountains.

Julie sat up stiffly, her heart beating fast.

"I've been there—" she said in a strange little voice. "I drove my car up there only a month or two ago."

She laughed with shaken excitement. "I stayed at the hotel—it's so cold and cheerless."

"It looks wonderful," Schofield said. "I've never been out of England myself," he added humbly.

"Yes—it was wonderful," Julie whispered. She sat with her hands clasped together, her eyes fixed on the screen. It was as if someone had taken her back three months, and was making her live those few hours of complete happiness once more.

"That's the Monastery," she said. "You could hardly see it for snow when we were there—"

"We?" Schofield said quickly. "You were alone then."

"There are always a great many tourists," Julie answered.

A newsboy came along crying his news.

"Tragic death of a well-known society beauty."

"I'll get a paper," Schofield said. They stopped under a lamp to read the short paragraph on the front page.

"What is it?" Julie asked. She bent lower to read the words. Then suddenly she gave a cry. "It's Jewell! My cousin Julie! Oh, poor Julie!"

The details were meagre, and without entire corroboration, but it appeared that Julie—the other Julie who had unwittingly brought about the tragedy of her cousin's life—while on her way to India, where she had been going for a holiday—was suddenly missed from the ship, and was presumed to have fallen overboard. There followed a brief account of her life—her popularity in society—her marriage and divorce—her vague as a beauty—her tremendous luck and good fortune in every way.

"Every way except in happiness—"

Julie said passionately. "She never had any happiness—oh, poor Julie!"

The tears were running down her cheeks.

They drove back to the flat and she bade him good-night.

She wondered if Bin had heard about the tragedy. She opened the door. She held the newspaper still clutched in her hand. There was a little movement in the room and some one pushed back a chair from in front of the fire.

"Jewell is dead—" Julie said, sobbing. "I suppose you know. She's dead—she's been lucky to the end, you see—I only wish I were dead too—" Then she broke off with a little choking cry, for it was not Bin who rose to meet her, but Giles Chittenden.

There was a tragic silence. Chittenden made a quick step forward.

"Julie—what is it?" Julie laughed sobbingly.

"My cousin—the other Julie—the one you, wanted to punish—you'll never be able to hurt her now—she's dead."

She almost threw the newspaper at him, and, dropping into a chair, she hid her face in her out-flung arms.

He laid the paper down on the table and looked at Julie. He could not think of anything save that she was unhappy, and with sudden impulse he went down on his knees beside her and took her into his arms.

"Julie!"
For a moment she resisted violently.

"Don't! How dare you! leave me alone!"

Then quite suddenly her resistance was gone, and she ceased to struggle. She looked at him with tragic eyes.

"If only it had been me—" she said wildly. "If only I could die too—"

"You don't mean that. There's much happiness in store for us—and together. Listen to me—Julie, you must listen."

She shivered away from him, her shoulders hunched, her face averted.

"I suppose I can't stop you saying what you want to, but it's no use. I don't know why you have come back! I told you I never wanted to see you again—"

"I came because I love you, and because I know you love me—"

"You are very sure of that!" she said bitterly.

"I am proud to be sure. Look at me, Julie—"

"No." She bit her lip to keep back the sobs that would rise to her throat. "If only you would go away and leave me—"

"I am not going. You belong to me—"

"Your wife would not be pleased to hear you say that," Julie said hoarsely.

Chittenden put his hands on her shoulders and forced her to turn to him.

"If you can look me in the eyes and say honestly that you do not love me, and that you wish me to go away and never come back, I will believe you," he said.

There was poignant silence. Julie raised her tear-drenched eyes with weary defiance, and her lips moved, but no words came.

Chittenden laughed triumphantly. (Continued next week)

Are You a Judge of Whisky?

Men have been known to think, and even heard to say, that the whisky with a "kick" or a bite is stronger than the whisky without it.

It is seldom so, the "kick" is due to one fact and one fact only, which is the admixture of raw spirit to a blend.

"WHITE HORSE" is a whisky without a bite or kick, and which fits perfectly each occasion and every mood. A more mellow, generous and delightful spirit than "WHITE HORSE" is not obtainable.

BIG TUBE UNDER DETROIT RIVER OPEN SATURDAY

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 1—Fitting ceremonies marked the dedication and formal opening of the Windsor-Detroit vehicular tunnel this morning. Men prominent in the public life in Canada and United States participated in the activities.

Thousands of people gathered at both ends of the tunnel to give expression to the spirit of good will which finds example in this, the first vehicular under-water tunnel to connect two nations.

Dedication services began at 10:30 o'clock, when Most Rev. David Williams, D.D., Archbishop of Huron and Metropolitan of Ontario, pronounced the invocation. He spoke from the platform at the Windsor end of the tunnel and his voice was clearly heard by the thousands assembled at the Detroit end, by means of telephone connections and loudspeakers.

Following the invocation Hon. Fred W. Green, governor of the State of Michigan, spoke from the Detroit Plaza, as the large gathering at the Windsor end listened in. He was honorary chairman of the day and introduced Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit, the acting chairman. He was followed by Mayor Cecil E. Jackson, of Windsor, speaking from the Windsor end.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, spoke from the Detroit end and Hon. George S. Henry, acting premier of Ontario, followed with an address from the Canadian end. Then Col. Hanford MacNider, United States minister to Canada, addressed the gathering, after which Col. Sidney C. Robinson, M.P. for Essex East, introduced Hon. Thomas G. Murphy, federal minister of the interior.

Shortly before noon, when the programme of addresses ended, President Herbert Hoover pressed a button in Washington which actuated the great gongs beside the speakers' platforms at both ends of the tunnel, marking the official opening of the great tube. This was the signal for cheering by the immense crowds and aerial bombs crashed overhead and bands blared forth.

Student (leaving college): "Good-bye, sir. I want to thank you for all I have learned from you." Professor: "Don't mention it—it's nothing at all."
